

Your Q4 2022 Deadlines for the Diary

Have you got all your March quarter obligations under control?

Soon enough, we'll be into the last quarter of the financial year, often a busier time for small businesses.

We've highlighted some upcoming business lodgment due dates to help you get organised for the June quarter.

Lodgment Type	Period End Date	Lodgment and Payment Due Date	Notes
Activity statement monthly	End of month	21 st of the following month
Superannuation Guarantee Contributions	31/03/2022	28/04/2022	Check the cut-off date of your super clearing house – their due date could be earlier than the ATO due date.
Activity statement March quarter	31/03/2022	28/04/2022 26/05/2022	For businesses lodging directly with the ATO. For registered agents lodging electronically.
Fringe Benefits Tax return	31/03/2022	21/05/2022 25/06/2022	For paper lodgments. For agents lodging electronically. Get your FBT records together before the end of March – vehicle logbooks and documents, lease documents, invoices and employee declarations.
Stocktake	30/06/2022	N/A	If you have to perform a stocktake for your tax return, plan ahead, so you have time and staff available for this task.

Talk to Us About Lodgment Planning

If we're already lodging on your behalf, lodgment extensions automatically apply. You may have earlier deadlines if you're lodging activity statements and other forms directly with the ATO. If you need more time to lodge and pay, let us know, and we can help you meet your obligations or arrange a lodgment extension if required.

It's good practice to plan for your lodgment dates, so you're always on top of your cash flow planning for ATO liabilities.

Start getting organised for the busy June quarter now!
